Dear Parents,

Wow, 2019 is ending this month and we have had a blast! All of the partners, projects, academic gains and new friendships forged. We would like to thank you for all of your support and participation, in making this program excel. We are looking forward to the coming year and we are anticipating more of the same, only better!

All the staff here would like to wish you a wonderful and safe winter break!

Thank you for your support!!!

What you can do to promote early learning

1. Play with your child and provide opportunities for them to play. Play is essential for healthy brain development.
2. Turn off the TV. A young child's brain is largely shaped by his/her development. Children need activities that stimulate the frontal lobe by involving all the senses, not just passive viewing.
3. Read and talk to your child. Phonemic awareness of sound comes from listening to the human voice.
4. Model the joy of learning and discovery. Go to parks, the beach, zoos and take children on walks. These types of activities stimulate early learning.
5. Connect with your child. Connections boost children's brain potential, encourages cooperation, promotes learning and literacy, increases attention, decreases power struggles and builds loving bonds.
