Dear Parents,

As a gentle reminder, pick-up is no earlier than 5:47 for students participating in the 21st Century Grant Program. Our funding is based on attendance and the allotted time spent in the program.

We would like to extend our gratitude for your support in these trying times. The students are to be commended for their diligence and great attitudes having to deal with this pandemic. We wish you all continued good health and safety as we all navigate through this crisis together!

Thank you!

What you can do to promote early learning

1. Play with your child and provide opportunities for them to play. Play is essential for healthy brain development.
2. Turn off the TV. A young child's brain is largely shaped by his/her development. Children need activities that stimulate the frontal lobe by involving all the senses, not just passive viewing.
3. Read and talk to your child. Phonemic awareness of sound comes from listening to the human voice.
4. Model the joy of learning and discovery. Go to parks, the beach, zoos and take children on walks. These types of activities stimulate early learning.
5. Connect with your child. Connections boost children's brain potential, encourages cooperation, promotes learning and literacy, increases attention, decreases power struggles and builds loving bonds.
